📄 Momentum outcome-based investing philosophy

Investment success is about consistently maximising the probability of you achieving your investment goals – whether that is to preserve capital, generate an income stream in retirement or grow wealth within the parameters of a certain risk profile. In response to the ever-evolving investment landscape, we have constructed a range of outcome-based solutions that set their sights beyond mere benchmarks and instead focus on the things that matter the most to you – ensuring we maximise the probability of you achieving your investment goals. Outcome-based investing is about placing your goals at the centre of our investment process.

📄 Investor profile and investment strategy

This portfolio is aimed at investors who are in the consolidation phase of investing. It has a medium-term investment horizon and, therefore, the aim is to maintain an average exposure of 56% to growth asset classes (local and global equities and property). The remaining exposure is to asset classes that should preserve the purchasing power of the capital accumulated. The portfolio consists of the full universe of asset classes, including global investments of up to 45%, and alternative asset classes. The allocation between asset classes, within these balanced mandates, is actively managed, taking the market environment into account. Through the optimum selection of asset classes, the probability of achieving the outcome is maximised within acceptable risk parameters. Performance fees may be paid within investment mandates, should they sufficiently enhance investment returns after fees. It is suitable as a stand-alone portfolio in retirement products, where compliance with Regulation 28 is specifically required.

Quarterly portfolio commentary for Q1 2026

The Iran war was the overarching theme dominating global financial market returns in March (and the first quarter of 2026). The associated risk-off and rand weakness drivers caused global assets to outperform South African (SA) assets in rand terms. Global cash was the best-returning asset class internationally in the quarter, with global property a close second. Global bonds outperformed global equities, while the strong returns from emerging market (EM) equities in the first two months of the year cemented a quarterly outperformance over developed market (DM) equities (where Japan had the highest returns due to the election-related rally earlier in the year).

Whereas a risk-on global sentiment remained prevalent in January and February, extending the 2025 trend of outperformance of SA assets over global assets (and strong returns from EM and SA equities, SA-listed property and nominal bonds), March saw a complete reversal of these trends during the war-induced sell-off in risk assets. With the US dollar fulfilling the role of global safe-haven asset in March, the rand weakened even more than other EM currencies, while EM and SA risk assets experienced severe selling pressure. This resulted in a sharp outperformance of global assets against SA asset classes in March.

Among the SA asset classes, the strong dollar gold price showing in January and February helped the gold ETF to produce the highest returns among all asset classes in the first quarter of 2026 (despite a sharp March sell-off), with cash the only other rand-based asset class providing positive returns. Listed property was the worst performer in SA for the quarter, followed by nominal bonds and ILBs. The higher gold price in the first quarter supported the Resources sector, offsetting the large negative returns from Industrials, leaving overall SA equity returns only slightly negative.

The portfolio delivered a return of -0.6% for the quarter and 17.0% for the twelve months to 31 March 2026.

Notes
