SA's largest retailer Shoprite had to house employees in hotels and its distribution centres during the Cape Town taxi riots to keep stores open and cashiers safe. Shoprite held its AGM on Monday and answered a question from shareholder activist group Just Share about staffing pay during the violent taxi protests in which five people died and employees could not get to work. The northeast of South Africa will likely receive above-normal summer rains through March 2024, raising hopes for better than forecast agriculture output despite threats of El Niñoinduced weather conditions, according to a farm-industry body. Latest data from the South African Weather Service, which previously forecast dry conditions in early 2024, now indicates above-normal rainfall from November through March in the northeast — the nation's main grain-growing region — and below-normal rainfall for the central and south-western parts. The rains are expected to cover the critical pollination stages of the summer crop when moisture is most needed, leading to better yields, said Wandile Sihlobo, chief economist at the Agricultural Business Chamber of South Africa. A startup in South Africa is testing how supplementing livestock feed with specific types of red seaweed can help reduce methane emissions that cause climate change. Bahari Labs, which was set up in May 2023, is the brainchild of Jay Van Der Walt, who partnered with scientists from various disciplines to work on this solution that relies on seaweed. Bahari is a Swahili word meaning "from the sea". Source: fin24.com
